We wish to call the attention of the patrons of our schools to a few important facts. First, the school is yours, it is supported by you, and your children should receive the benefit of it. Second, as members of society, it is not only your privilege but your duty to educate your sons and daughters, and those who pay their money to support schools have a right to demand of you that your children be sent regularly to school that they may become intelligent members of society and good and worthy citizens, and they cannot be kept out of school. It is not right that the children be left out of school when they could be sent, neither is it right to permit them to stay at home when they do not wish to go to school. Experience and observation have taught us how impossible it is for pupils to receive full benefits by going to school two or three times in a week and remain away the balance of the time. This is bad enough when necessity compels parents to keep their children from school, but when they are permitted to remain out for the purpose of attending some place of amusement, or merely because they feign sickness until after school is called and then immediately recover, is much worse. Time thus lost can never be regained, and parents all will see the day when they will rue it. Again, teachers feel greatly hurt by this disregard for their efforts and feelings. No true teacher wishes to receive pay, be it ever so little, without giving more than an equivalent, but, if after exerting themselves to their utmost to make the school a success they see the interest die out and the school end in failure through causes they have no power to subvert, it is simply injustice; first to the children, because they do not know what is best for them, and second to the teachers because the responsibility is in ninety-nine cases in one hundred saddled upon them. Remember, too, that teachers have but little to work with. It is impossible, almost, for a teacher to make a room with bare walls and floor, covered with dust and dirt, and dull lessons of which pupils know but little, as attractive to children as are places of amusement. In view of the facts, in behalf of the teachers of our schools we entreat the patrons of our schools to see to it that your children are sent to school regularly, and not only sent but supplied with books and other appurtenances necessary to their successfully doing their work while there. The teachers would be glad to have you visit them occasionally and see that they perform their duties and that your children improve their time as they should.

"We ought to be doing something" is a remark frequently heard from citizens, restless because they fear that the Government is dangerously lax in its provisions for national defense. This indicates a frame of mind not to be deplored. Citizens who feel that way ought to be striving to do something themselves. The Government is not in need of suggestions or advice. But there is room for a large number of able-bodied young men in the National Guard. Use your influence to induce young men to enlist. Use your influence with employers to induce them to encourage service in the State's soldiery among their employees. Also, spare no pains to let the Representative in Congress of your district know how you feel about the need for preparedness. Urge your friends in the district to do likewise. That is a sure way to decrease any opposition there may be in Congress to the execution of the excellent plans of the War and Navy Departments. Citizens who thus wisely exert themselves will have less reason to worry.

The Dog and the Fly.
"The dog cares not whether his master is rich or poor, but is as faithful to the stranger as to the owner of a mansion." Same way with the house fly. Never deserts a house because it is humble.—Louisville Courier Journal.

Lock the Bottles to the Door.
Louis Levitt and Isidor Randelman of New York have obtained a patent for a means by which the milkman can lock milk bottles to the door of the house to which he delivers them, so that they cannot be removed until the door is opened.

An Empire Ranch.
We hear often of "captains of industry," "Napoleons of finance," and "land barons," but what title is imposing enough to fit the Australian cattleman who owns or controls 28,800,000 acres of ranch land—a domain as large as Pennsylvania?

Name on Umbrella.
Stencil your name on your umbrella and see how much sooner it will be returned when borrowed. A fine brush and white paint are the best things to use. The stencil will not be hard to cut if care be taken, but give the paper stencil a coat of shellac before using it.

STATE BANK & TRUST CO.

At Stanford Mergers With First National.

Business and financial interests of the city were greatly interested by the announcement made Tuesday morning of a merger of the business of the State Bank & Trust Company with the First National Bank, of Stanford says The Interior Journal. Negotiations, pending for several days, were brought to a successful conclusion Monday night, and on Tuesday morning the First National took over the deposits and accounts of the State Bank & Trust Company and transferred all business to the office of the First National on Main Street.

Officers of both banks expressed the opinion that the arrangement made would be a mutual help not only to the interests of the two banks but the stockholders as well. While the full details of the arrangement have not been fully worked out it was of the opinion of the majority of the Board of the State Bank that it would be advisable to later on dispose of its building and fixtures, and for the present the affairs of the bank will be carried on at the First National.

The First National has for many years been one of the strongest banking institutions in Central Kentucky and by this merger it is confidently expected to further increase its usefulness as a safe, sound and conservative banking house. It is one of the oldest banks in the state and has enjoyed an honorable and successful career for almost half a century.

METHODIST CONFERENCE

APPOINTS REV. C. H. GREER,
Presiding Elder of District.

The annual conference of the Methodist Church, South, recently held at Millersburg, came to a close last week with a chorus of 600 voices singing "Praise God From Whom All Blessings Flow." Among many of the appointments announced, the one most important was that which made Rev. C. H. Greer, of Stanford, the Presiding Elder of this district. He will be succeeded at Stanford by Rev. W. D. Wilburn. It is very gratifying to his local friends, that Rev. S. H. Politt will continue in charge of the local church in this city.

LANCASTER MEN COMPLIMENTED BY DANVILLE MESSENGER.

PROMINENT VISITOR.
Col. John W. Miller, of Lancaster, was in Danville yesterday and was kept busy shaking hands with his many friends. Col. Miller has long been one of Garrard county's most prominent citizens.

REFORMED NEWSPAPER MAN
It is a well known fact that a man once engaged in the newspaper business seldom if ever turns from the error of his way. However, R. E. Hughes of Louisville, is one who "reformed" and has made good in other business pursuits. Mr. Hughes was in Danville yesterday, and called at the local printing offices, saying the hum of the presses still attracted him. He at one time edited the Lawrenceburg News and the Lancaster Record.

AN OLD CENTRE MAN
Dr. W. Simpson Elkin, of Atlanta, Ga., was here yesterday on a brief visit to relatives. Dr. Elkin is an old Centre man, graduating many years ago, but still enthusiastic about the college. He has been wonderfully successful in Atlanta, and is now one of the leading physicians and surgeons of Georgia. He was reared in Lancaster and is now on a visit to relatives in this city. He is well known and highly thought of by many Danville citizens, who remember "Simp" with the greatest of pleasure.

PROFIT-SHARING

$500,000 A DAY.

These are busy days—particularly busy days—at the Ford Motor Company's administration building, Detroit. Checks—each for $50—are going out to more than 300,000 Ford owners who by purchasing their cars between August, 1914, and August, 1915, participate in Ford profits to the aggregate of more than $15,000,000. This disbursement is in itself rather a stupendous task. The checks are being mailed at the rate of about 10,000 a day, a per diem distribution of $500,000.

A large and distinct organization has been arranged to complete this task. When the profit-sharing plan for Ford owners was announced August 1, 1914, a department to handle the details was installed in the Ford Administration building. For several weeks now a large corps of stenographers has been filling in the 300,000 names in the checks. These names are taken from the original bills of sale.

Open-face envelopes are used, the name of the payee serving also as the mailing address. The amount of the check—$50—is printed on its face.

The work of signing more than 300,000 checks itself offered a problem. Each check carries the signature of one of three assistant cashiers and the most inveterate scribbler might easily develop writer's cramp and grow exceedingly tired of his own name without some device to lighten his labor. There are five checks to a sheet and by a single operation of the pen these five checks are signed simultaneously.

As far as possible the checks are being mailed to the owners in the same chronological order as the cars were purchased. Bill of sale No. 1, by the way, was signed by Genevieve Morrison, 914 North Florence street, El Paso, Texas. It covers a Ford touring car, motor No. 544,547, bought August 1st, 1914.

The profit-sharing owners in this huge list range from large corporations who have bought many Fords for the equipment of their salesmen or for delivery purposes, to thrifty Americans who have invested their savings in their cars as a pleasure-giving, health-bringing gift to themselves and their families. And it is a complete democracy. Everybody gets the same sized check—$50 on each purchase.

The large number of women on the list of beneficiaries, too, is significant. Evidently women buy and drive the Ford, not only because of its safety element, but because of its ease of operation and control—its sheer simplicity.

The effect of this huge sum—more than $45,000,000—going back into nearly every city, town, hamlet and rural district of the United States will be tremendous. Everybody will feel the effect and stimulus of it, because all sorts of business, all kinds of professions and trades, all walks of life are represented in that list of more than 300,000 profit sharers. It goes broadcast across the country.

At the rate at which the checks are now being mailed—about 10,000 a day—the distribution of the total—over 300,000—will be completed in about thirty days.

COLORED SCHOOL NOTICE.

The colored School of Lancaster, Ky., will open Tuesday morning September 14th, 1915. The teachers will meet at the school building Monday at 1 o'clock. There will be a public meeting Monday night. We hope every parent in the community will be present as we will out line the plan of work for the year, and as your co-operation is necessary to make the work a success. It is important that you be present at this meeting. J. J. Green, Principal.

Yes—Many People have told us the same story—distress after eating, gases, heartburn. A
Rexall Dyspepsia
Tablet
before and after each meal will relieve you. Sold only by us—25c.

PROMINENT MAN

PRaises TANLAC

State Superintendent Of Printing Voluntarily Pays Tribute To New Remedy.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 8th, 1915.—A high State official is one of those who have come forward voluntarily to add his voice to the chorus of praise for Tanlac, the peerless preparation. This is Moses R. Glenn, State Superintendent of Printing, whose office is in Frankfort.

"I think I had tried every remedy there is before I learned about Tanlac," he said recently. "I had a catarrhal affection, and could sleep very little because I swallowed the accretions from my throat. Of a morning I woke from a troubled slumber with a choking sensation, and would cough and spit nearly all day.

"As soon as I began taking Tanlac I experienced an improvement. I had little faith at first that any medicine would help me, and I am the more ready and even eager to say a word about this preparation. As a rule I am conservative and unwilling to give my indorsement to anybody or anything, but this is an exceptional case. The itching in my ears is gone, I sleep soundly, and the accumulation in my nose and throat has disappeared. I want others to know how much good Tanlac has done me."

Tanlac is now being introduced in Lancaster at R. E. McRoberts drug store, and at Bryantville by Becker, Ballard and Scott.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

Why Do We Sell International Harvester Engines?

WE recommend and sell International Harvester oil and gas engines because of the universal satisfaction they give to our customers. The weight is ample and is in the right place; the castings are sand-cast, of the most approved type; the design of every part is of the most approved type; simple, yet complete in every detail; easy to manage, requiring little attention beyond regular oiling; developing from 10 to 30 per cent more than their rated horse-power. I H C engines of all sizes make friends wherever they go. This series of advertisements will explain fully why I H C engines are such good values. One or two features will be taken up at a time, so that when you are through with the series you will be well posted on engines. All the time these advertisements are running we shall have a demonstrating engine on the floor here, ready to show you what to expect for your money when you buy an I H C engine.
